

WARNING

SIB130- SIB130MG- SIB422- SIB422MG

The SIB130 & SIB422 range of gauges are an ether filled gas gauge. These gauges are easily damaged, and some precautions must be taken when fitting into your car.

The ether will be released from your new gauge if the bulb/sender is over tightened when fitting into the cooling system.

The ether will be released from your new gauge if the main line is kinked or bent too far on a right angle.

The ether will be released from your new gauge if the engine is not earthed and the metal line of the gauge takes an electrical earth current.

Installation should be carried out by a qualified mechanic or auto electrician & instructions MUST be read prior to installation.

If the ether is released from the gauge, your gauge will not work, and any warranty will be void.

All gauges are tested and are working prior to leaving our store
